

Student Stories and Successes

Our performing arts stars!

"Through the number of shows that you are involved in as part of the course at the college, it sets you up for life in the industry and prepares you well. I made some fantastic contacts during my time there and this has certainly helped my career."

David White: Former Performing Arts (Technical Theatre Production) student who tours with Ed Sheeran. Read his story here

"The course offers fantastic opportunities and enables you to become more confident, versatile and enthusiastic performing artist. With such talented lecturers and an amazing theatre, I highly recommend this course."

Josh Tucker: Performing Arts student

"Dance companies often come into College to practice and perform with us as well as offering help and advice. It is great to be able to train with industry professionals and get an insight into making dancing a career."

Naomi Blowes: FdA Dance student

"Past students include actress and presenter Amanda Holden, magician James More and West End performer Earl Carpenter."

"The Production course is very intense and practical and I believe that's really good because it prepared me for industry. The course also helped me to get work outside college."

Kay Raminikkumer: Performing Arts student

"Joining the Performing Arts course has made me realise how much more there is to learn and I am developing skills I never knew I had."
