

Access to HE

Thinking about returning to education?

Looking for a change in career or progress at work? Not been in a classroom for years? An Access to HE course is for you!

Access to HE Diplomas are designed specifically for adults looking to study a Degree Level course, but who may not have the relevant formal entry qualifications. So if you're changing direction in your career or getting back into education after family commitments, the Access to HE Diploma is the perfect qualification to get you on the right road to a Degree.

An important note about English and maths:

As a standard entry requirement, universities will often now require you to have a full GCSE at grade 4 or above (formerly C) in English and maths, rather than other Level 2 equivalences before you study with them. This is not part of the Access to HE Diploma. It is up to you to contact the universities where you intend to study to check exactly what they need from you.
