

Update your industry skills

Need to refresh your work skills?

Updating your qualifications will ensure you're up-to-date with the latest industry standards.

Are you an electrician that needs to retake your wiring certificate? Perhaps you fit gas appliances and need to renew your gas certificate? You might even be a hairdresser or work in Health and Safety. It's often a requirement to update your qualifications periodically to stay on registers such as Gas Safe. This ensures you have the knowledge and skills and that you're up-to-date with all the latest industry regulations.

How we help

Gaining these qualifications and keeping them up-to-date is an essential part of working in a particular field or job. They're recognised and highly respected by employers and professional bodies and you'll often need them to secure a particular job or to develop your career in that area.

With a range of courses to fit around you and your commitments, it's never been easier to study towards these qualifications. Plus you'll be taught by our tutors who are all industry experts.
