Working together

It's not just about training and Apprenticeships

We value the relationship we have with the business community, working collaboratively to enhance the workplace within the region. Our close partnerships provide opportunities to get involved in a wide range of activities.

Curriculum development

We're continually working in partnership with business to assess our curriculum, ensuring that our courses are relevant, current and meeting employer and market demand. As such, we welcome partnerships from a wide range of industries. You can be involved in a variety of ways including:

- Employer advisory Boards
- Guest speakers
- Real life projects for students

Work experience

Work experience is a core part to our courses and provides an opportunity for students to hone their skills such as team-working, problem-solving and communication. Placements vary in length and can bring real benefits to businesses including fresh thinking, development opportunities, increased company profile and the opportunity to work with motivated young people. Ofsted

Further Education is a vital sector which provides learners of all ages with the skills and opportunities they need to succeed.

Ofsted is actively seeking to promote employer commitment and involvement in training. They have now introduced an online feedback forum Employer View, so that employers can give their views about their employees' training providers.
