What to do on results day ...

Don't panic. Take a deep breath and don't feel pressured into making a hasty decision. Remember, every year thousands of students find themselves in the same situation.

While Clearing actually opens before A-level results day, most course vacancies are only added after this. You can still research and shortlist possible courses beforehand to look out for nearer the time. Remember you'll be spending the next three years studying for your degree, so make sure that the university or college, and the course you have chosen, are right for you.

Got your results? Not sure what's next.... Come and chat to us about your options. Check the website events page for the latest information.
