2024/25

Inspiring Lives, Discovering Futures

The Course

In brief...

The Level 1 Diploma in Music, Performing and Production Arts has been designed to provide students with the knowledge, skills and understanding necessary to access and progress to further study and training in a range of music performance and production disciplines.

The qualification will provide students with:

- An introduction to the skills and knowledge of music, performance and production
- An introduction to research for music, performance and production
- An opportunity to explore and enhance their creative development
- A broad diagnostic introduction to music, performance and production
- A standard from which all other learning will develop

Who is it for?

The UAL Level 1 Diploma in Music, Performing and Production Arts is designed to provide an opportunity for those who may have an interest in music, performing and production arts to explore some of the materials, methods and processes that support many music, performing and production arts activities, and to begin to develop some related skills. It is intended that this initial experience of music, performing and production arts teaching, learning and assessment activity will provide students with a test of their commitment and interest in the subject and their ability to sustain a focused exploration of the skills, knowledge and understanding for progression within music, performing and production arts education.

What the Course Leads to

What courses can I do after this?
