Expand your music skills!

Whether you want to specialise in classical or popular music performance, music technology, sound engineering or live sound management, you will gain high-level technical skills and academic knowledge at The College.

Our state-of-the-art music recording facilities are based in Poole, Dorset. Here you'll find excellent technician support and staff who are professional musicians and experts in their field. We have strong links with professionals in all areas of the music industry, along with good community links with local schools and Bournemouth University.

You will be part of a large community of musicians, with plenty of opportunities to work together with other students on external concerts and gigs.

From courses to careers!

Thinking about your career - at The Bournemouth & Poole College we know that getting a good qualification is only part of the story. It's what it leads to that's really important. Our interactive widget below can help you understand some of the careers that our courses lead too, with average salaries, current employment and predicted growth over the next couple of years.
