

Strategic Outcomes

The Bournemouth and Poole College exists so that students, employers and communities from Bournemouth, Dorset and Poole and beyond* are equipped for the futures to which they aspire, at a cost that represents excellent value for money.

Strategic Outcomes describe the reason for the organisation's existence – what it is for, rather than what it does. The following Strategic Outcomes for The College were reaffirmed and agreed by the Board of the Corporation in July 2016:

SO1 – for our Students

Students have the skills, confidence and knowledge to make a successful transition into work or the next stage of their career or education.

SO2 – for Employers

Employers have the skilled people they need to create and develop a prosperous and sustainable economy.

SO3 0 for Communities

Community organisations have relationships with The College that help them fulfil their aims / outcomes.

* The primary beneficiaries of the work of The Bournemouth and Poole College is intended to be all those who live and work in Bournemouth, Dorset and Poole. However, The College welcomes and seeks to provide excellent education for all students who choose to access its services.
